

Exercises: 3.Pipelines

Dr. Alan Berg

03/02/2022

Question 1

Visit Google scholar and look for term “ Job Market Intelligence .” Review only for papers written in the last year. List the title, a brief summary of the abstracts and write a note if the paper is useful for finding Signals.

Note: If you have a particular research interest please consider refining the search term to match.

Question 2

Create a list of 10 alternative search terms and see if you can discover extra useful papers

Find and read:

Studying the UK Job Market During the COVID 19 Crisis with Online Job Ads - Rudy Arthur

Question 3

Review the output from All the notebook .nb.html files and write in your notes the following. * List the packages used and describe their purpose * List the new functions used and what they do * Describe any short recipes in your own words * Search the Internet for at least two links for similar examples

Question 4

Visit the following link to the Big book of R. Which books most use to you? <https://www.bigbookofr.com/>

Question 5

In the books you find interesting cut and copy recipes to a text document and then write down what the recipes do.

Question 6

Are there any books (from the link in question 4) that describe creating packages? Why are custom packages useful for recipe collections?

Question 7

Can you find any online books about using Git?